VOL. II, NO. 99. HONOLULU, HAWAII TERRITORY, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1904.—TWELVE PAGES. Entered Jan. 19, 1903, at Honolulu, Hawaii, as Second Class Matter, Under Act of Congress, of March 3, 1879.

MEDICOS IN SESSION

Would Segregate Women to Mitigate Evil.

The annual meeting of the Territorial Medical Society was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Honolulu Symphony Society's clubhouse, "Haaleleia Lawn," where the report of the President was read, various other business reports presented, committees appointed, and a new society formed. The latter is the Oahu Medical Society, a sort of wheel within a wheel, and subservient to the Territorial Society. The latter society should meet but once a year. The local society will enable the members to come together once a month or oftener if necessary.

Dr. Wm. L. Moore, the retiring president, presided, with Dr. McDonald as secretary.

Dr. Emerson was admitted as an active member in recognition of his long service in the islands.

A letter from Surgeon General Wyman, of Washington, was read, stating that he would accept the Medical Society's invitation to visit Hawaii and have the time of his life, when his duties would permit.

The following committees were appointed:

- Nominating Committee—Dr. Taylor, Dr. Sloggett, Dr. Cooper.
- Auditing Committee—Dr. Wayson, Dr. Hodgins, Dr. Waterhouse.
- Legislative Committee—Dr. Cooper, Dr. Mays, Dr. Day.
- Resolutions Committee—Dr. Waterhouse, Dr. Humphris, Dr. Walters, Dr. Emerson.

The question then arose as to the formation of a sub-society, as a local organization. The Territorial Society at this juncture adjourned until 8 p. m. to give the members an opportunity to organize the local society.

Dr. Taylor was appointed temporary chairman, and Dr. Hodgins, temporary secretary.

It was decided to call the new society the Oahu Medical Society, to which all practitioners are entitled to become members. The new society was organized on the motion of Dr. Sinclair.

Present at the afternoon meeting were Doctors Taylor, Sloggett, Cooper, Hodgins, McDonald, Katsuki, Kobayashi, Humphris, Herbert, Raymond, Wayson, Sawyer, Rhodes, Pratt, Emerson, Rodgers, Judd, Moore, Sinclair, Mays, Mitamura, de Faria, Hoffmann, Walters, Waterhouse, Uchida, Rossiter and Knudsen.

PRESIDENT MOORE'S ADDRESS.

Dr. Moore, President of the Territorial Medical Society, presented his annual address as follows:

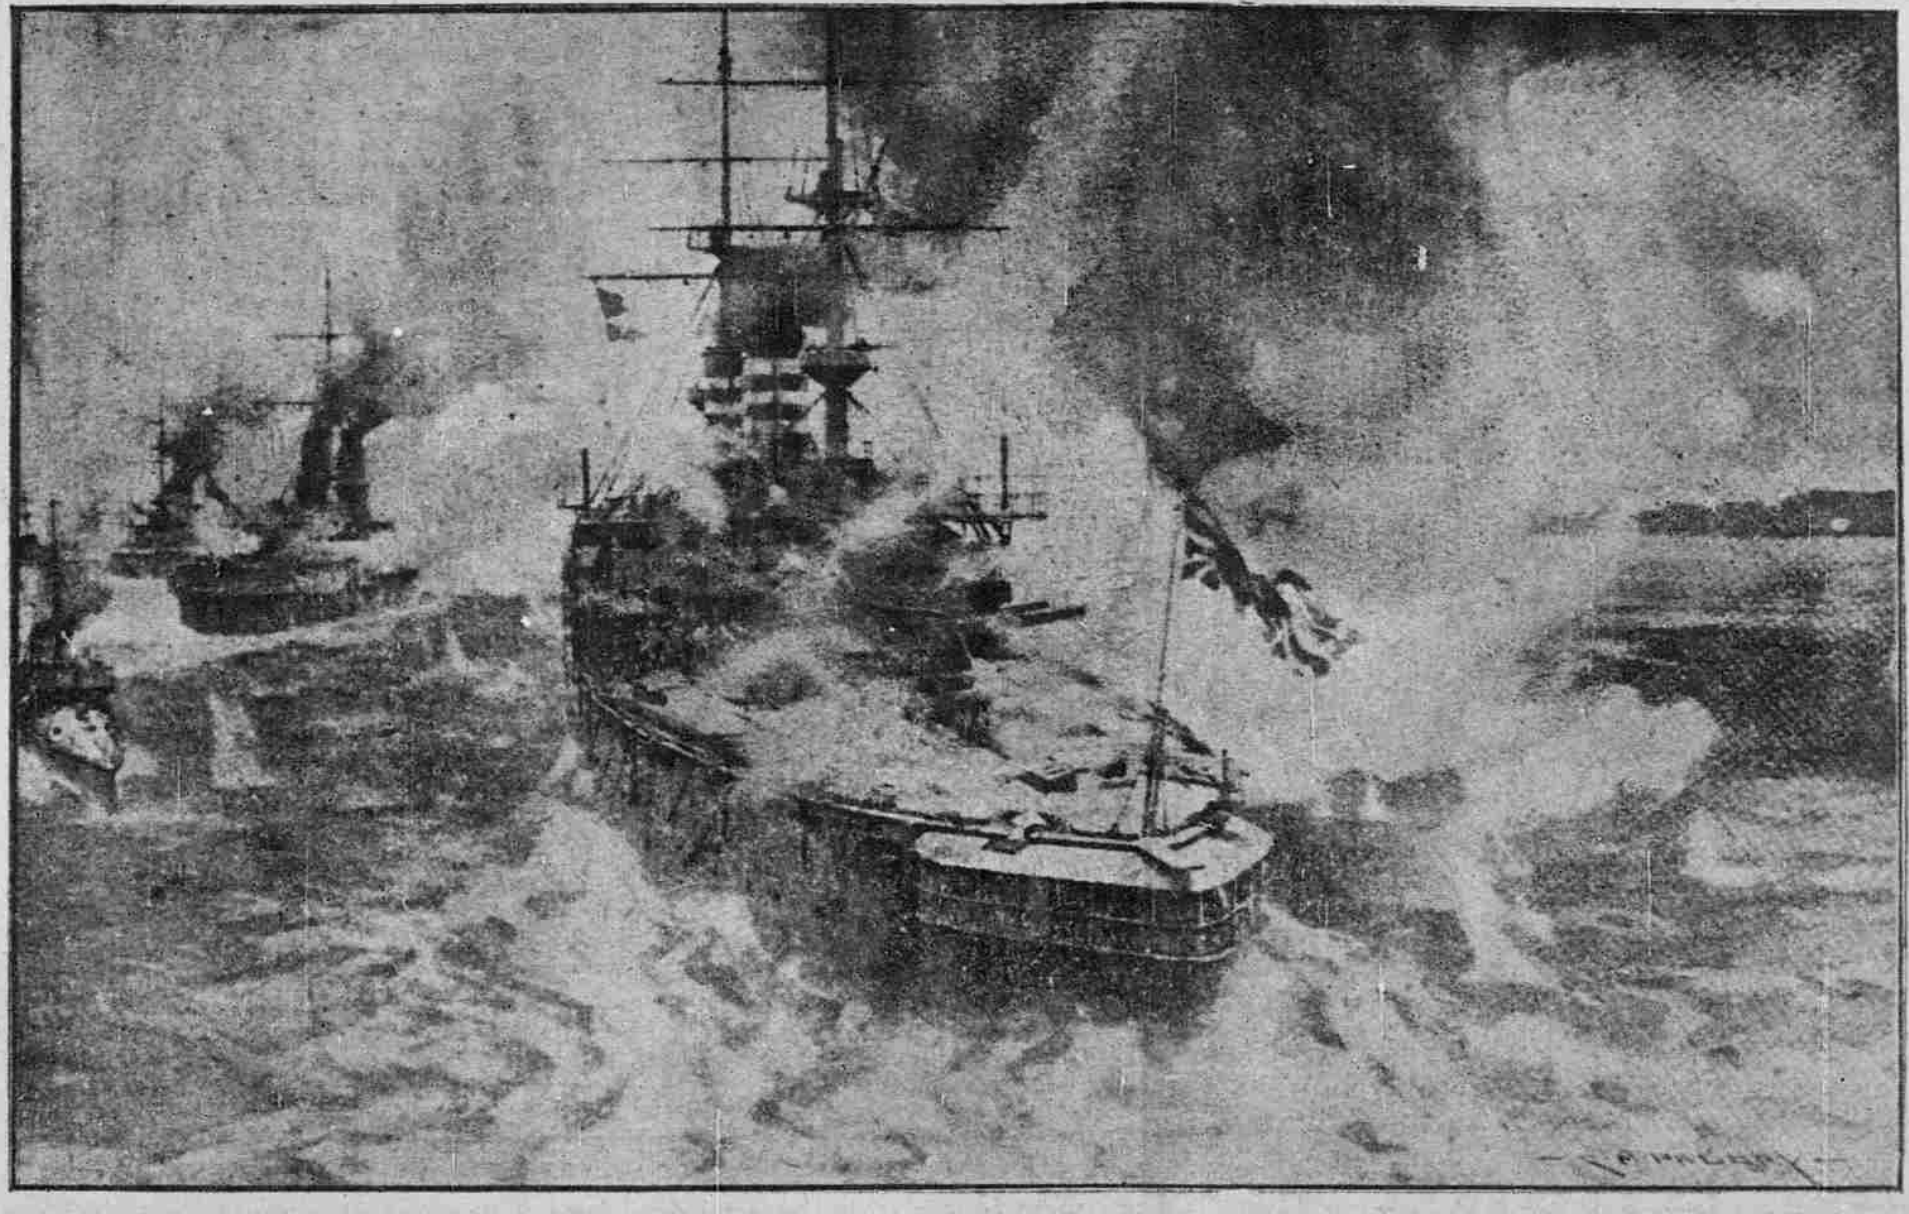

Fellow Members of the Hawaiian Territorial Medical Society and Guests: It gives me very great pleasure to welcome you to this, the first meeting of a general character of the society. I appreciate the honor conferred upon me in making me your presiding officer. I wish to thank the members of the various committees for the thorough and faithful manner in which they have performed their parts, without which this event, which promises so much, would have been impossible.

It is desirable that these annual gatherings should continue, and grow in influence and interest. It will be so if all of our members are determined that such shall be the annual condition. The promotion of good fellowship, the reading of papers which show the latest advance in all branches of our science; comparing notes and planning for the future well repays this stepping aside from our various spheres of active work for as short a time. In this connection it seems proper to suggest that permanent quarters for the society in Honolulu with the nucleus of a library, with reading rooms and rooms for discussion are necessary; that the society should have a common point where there may be the utmost freedom of communication and of becoming acquainted one with another.

We have a most attractive list of papers submitted, which will doubtless consider exhaustively the various subjects presented, and I therefore confine these remarks to mere suggestions as to lines of work the society might well adopt, leaving the elucidation for others. This meeting with the reading of these papers, discussions thereupon and the clinics cannot fail to be of equal interest and great practical value.

Hawaii, situated in the midst of the great North Pacific Ocean, is not only the cross-roads of the Pacific, but it constitutes the extreme frontier of western civilization, and for this reason great responsibilities devolve upon us scarcely equalled and not excelled in any other locality. It is hardly necessary to speak of the broad and high nature of our profession, embracing as it does medicine and surgery with their subdivisions, alienism and criminology, public hygiene and all that pertains to fostering and protecting the public health. In this distant spot, separated by thousands of miles of ocean and many days in time from the great centers of science and of supply we are called upon practically at a moment's notice to meet the threat of pestilence and plague. The story of the past shows what has been done. We have met and put down an invasion of Asiatic cholera; we are constantly menaced by plague, and only the skill and ability of our physicians, assisted by the civil authorities, has kept these things in check. We have very inadequate provision for vaccination, and with the completion of the Isthmian canal we must be prepared to cope with yellow fever. All of the ills which attend upon and are fostered by the ignorance, poverty and superstition of the Orient are constantly seeking entrance to our fair Isles. We owe it to ourselves, by the first law of nature, that these threatened invasions shall be repelled. It devolves upon us to prevent this Territory from becoming a menace to the state in general. We must remember that we have at our backs the vast territory of the United States, Canada and the other countries of America. To accomplish this it is necessary that the doctor should take a constant, keen and important place in the affairs of the country. I think it has been shown that the medical profession of these islands as a body cannot be excelled, either in skill or attainments, and you have only to work in accord to exercise an irresistible force in accomplishing measures. It is true that you have worked unceasingly in rain and shine. (Continued on page 9.)

SCHOONER MAKAWELI WRECKED AND CREW LOST

VICTORIA, Nov. 20.—The schooner Makaweli was wrecked off Clayoquot yesterday and the crew lost.

The four-masted barkentine Makaweli was launched at the shipyard of W. A. Boole & Son in Oakland, California, May 10, 1902, and was the property of Hind, Rolph & Co. She was built for the lumber trade. Her dimensions are: length 185 feet, depth of hold 17 feet, beam 38 feet, net registered tonnage 800. Her lumber carrying capacity is one million feet. Her commander is Captain Neilson. The last voyage made by the Makaweli previous to the present one was from San Pedro to Puget Sound where she arrived on September 5th. Clayoquot is a postoffice in British Columbia not located on the maps.

CLUB OF COLLEGE MEN

Proposal Took Form At University Smoker.

The annual Yale-Harvard smoker was held at the Young Hotel last evening. Thirty-six men were present and enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Governor Carter was in the chair, and after the first few informal moments he arose to announce that "the curfew will not ring tonight." After a few remarks over the Yale football victory, he called for a report of the committee appointed last year to look into the subject of a University Club, and Fred Church thereupon read the following report:

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Yale-Harvard Club, Gentlemen: At the last meeting of the club in November, 1903, after a general discussion as to the advisability of starting a University Club in Honolulu, the Chairman, Geo. R. Carter, appointed a committee of three, consisting of Judge A. S. Hartwell, Walter F. Dillingham and Frederic J. Church to look into the matter and report at the annual meeting in 1904. Complying with these instructions your committee begs to report as follows:

We unanimously favor the project and advise the appointment of a committee to draw up by-laws similar, in general, to those of the various University Clubs on the mainland, said committee to obtain a list of eligible members who are desirous of joining and then call a meeting of said applicants. After a careful consideration we feel that at present it would not be wise to attempt to obtain a building of our own, owing to the great expense that the proper fitting of the same would entail, but suggest that quarters be obtained, if possible, in the Young Hotel, where we would have comfortable lounging, reading and card rooms, with the benefit of the hotel grill and buffet. We tried to obtain a figure on the floor of the hotel immediately below the dining room, but in this were unsuccessful, as Manager Lake said that he must first confer with Alexander Young, who at present is not in the Territory. He suggested, however, that arrangements could probably be made whereby we obtained quarters in another portion of the building and used the Young Hotel grill, which has been closed for some time, as our lunch or dining room. Owing to the comparatively small number of University Graduates in Honolulu and vicinity, your committee favors admitting as members of the University Club any man of repute who has at any time been a student at any bona fide University or College or at one of the medical, law, scientific or other schools.

Being unable to unanimously agree as to the amount of initiation fee, we suggest that this matter be left to popular vote of the Yale-Harvard Club, providing of course that our other suggestions be acted upon.

We interviewed the Hawaiian Hotel on the same project, but could not do anything with them as the bond holders, who have taken charge of the hotel, do not as yet know what their ultimate decision concerning the property will be. We feel that it is out of the question to obtain quarters for the club until same is at least in a state of semi-organization, and therefore, as above, suggest that a committee be appointed to begin the work of starting the University Club. From the enthusiasm which prospective members have expressed when the subject has been broached to them, we feel that said committee will meet with most gratifying success.

Respectfully submitted, ALFRED S. HARTWELL, Chairman.

W. F. DILLINGHAM, FREDERIC J. CHURCH.

Judge Hartwell then proposed that a committee of five be appointed to find out the number of members that could be found and the probable cost of the undertaking. After much discussion this motion was passed with the amendment that the committee be given the power to appoint two others belonging to other colleges, thus making the number of the committee seven. Governor Carter appointed the five as follows:

Messrs. Crawley and Derby of Harvard, Church of Princeton, and Judd and Anderson of Yale, with the chair as ex-officio member.

Dr. Judd proposed that a committee be appointed to be responsible for the next annual smoker. There is no one to be responsible and hence arrangements are not made until the last moment. It being decided that this was a good idea the "prosmaster" appointed Dr. Judd and Messrs. Derby and Church.

Several speeches were made by different men present and the toasts flew thick and fast.

Old college songs and the different college yells were delivered with great enthusiasm and the pleasant gathering
